Dr. Henderson at 75.

The Western Christian Advocate published at Cincinnati, in its issue of Sept. 6 has the following:

"Dr. Howard A. M. Henderson celebrated his 75th birthday anniversary on Tuesday, August 15. This event was made the occasion for a very pleasant gathering at the Park Avenue Church at Hartwell, when a large number of Doctor Henderson's friends and admirers attended a reception in his honor given under the auspices of his church, of which he is now pastor emeritus, and which he served for five years during his active ministry. It was a delight to his friends and former parishioners to give this expression of the love and veneration in which he is held. The whole community feels rich in possessing one of such distinction, and the church cherishes the memory of his ministry. While Dr. Henderson is not in robust physical health, nevertheless when the master of 'Heartsease' is at home he is the source of mental and spiritual inspiration to all who visit him there. The reception was attended by the following ministers, who made felicitous speeches during the evening: The Rev. Messrs. J. L. Corley, L. O. Hartman, W. H. Wehrly and J. T. Bail. Dr. Henderson was happy and animated in his response. Music was furnished by Mrs. C. L. Swain, and refreshments served by the young ladies of the church.

"An interesting coincidence was the presence of Mrs. Rev. Lewis, between whose late husband, a Union soldier, and Dr. Henderson a friendship sprang up while the former was a prisoner in a Confederate parole camp, of which the latter had charge. Many messages of congratulation and regret were received from the many friends of Dr. Henderson who could not be present."

Rev. Henderson was born in this city and was reared in Millersburg. He will be remembered by many of the older citizens of this city as a brilliant Methodist divine and formerly served the State as Superintendent of Public Instruction. At present he is confined in a Cincinnati hospital with serious illness.

Bourbon County Crop Conditions

Improved conditions have followed the flattering agricultural outlook and side by side as tobacco, corn and grass has improved so has business channels taken on active trading as was evidenced by the Saturday afternoon crowd that thronged the business district. Merchants report active trading in all lines and at no time of the season has such a feeling of confidence prevailed.

Merchants are laying in large supplies of textile goods and in the produce line farmers are finding a market for everything at good prices.

Cattle and hogs are selling well up with prices that prevailed one year ago and the demand for stock hogs and good feeders has increased with improved conditions for good grazing.

Rye is being sown in liberal quantities and with grass spreading as in springtime, live stock will fare much better than was indicated three weeks ago when the earth was parched and vegetation blighted from a lack of moisture.

But the season of drouth has been forgotten so responsive has been the touch of nature, and the push and the energy of the blue grass tiller of the soil has found fruition in having his crops in shape for the psychological moment as seen in the increased growth of tobacco, corn and pasture. The business outlook is taking on increased momentum and fall trading is as lively as in many years is expected to reward the patience of both farmer and merchant.

Thousands bless them for curing stomach trouble, female complaints, kidney disorders, biliousness, and for new health and vigor. Try them. Only 50c at Oberdorfer's.

LIQUID CURES ECZEMA WHERE SALVE FAILS

In regard to skin diseases medical authorities are now agreed on this: Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eczematous diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid. WASH THE GERMS OUT. A simple wash: A compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, and other ingredients as combined in the D. D. D. Prescription, penetrates to the disease germs and destroys it, then soothes and heals the skin as nothing else has ever done.

A 25-cent trial bottle will start the cure, and give you instant relief.

How to Get Rid of the Lobby.

To read what Judge O'Rear has to say about the "Corrupt Lobby" one might think that he was the original and only discoverer of this iniquitous conspiracy to control Legislation. Now that the county unit question has been practically settled by the agreement of both parties that they will pass a bill extending the county unit, Judge O'Rear must find something else to talk about, and he is expending his energy and eloquence on the "Third House." So bitter is he in his denunciation of the small coterie of politicians who for years have grown rich at Frankfort by corrupting the Legislature, that he proposes to destroy this lobby if it becomes necessary to keep the Legislature in session continuously for two years. It costs $1,000 a day to run the Kentucky Legislature, and two years of this continuous performance would place a burden on the tax payers of $700,000 if Judge O'Rear is elected and carries out his threat. It is generally agreed that the lobby must be destroyed, and the Democratic platform pledges the party to its abolition. Governor McCreary has advanced views on this subject as Judge O'Rear. He believes that a corrupt lobby is a curse on any state, and if he is elected Governor he will drive its members from the State House.

Convincing proof of Judge O'Rear's sincerity in this matter is furnished by his failure to say anything about the "Corrupt Lobby" which secured the election of W. O. Bradley to the Senate. This is the same lobby that has operated in Frankfort for many years, the very identical lobby that with Bradley's help defeated the county unit bill, yet, Judge O'Rear doesn't open his mouth in condemnation of this conspiracy. Like every other question raised by Judge O'Rear in this campaign, he is promising to do one thing while the whole record of his party shows that when it was in power it did just the contrary.

The only sure way to get rid of the "corrupt lobby" is to elect Governor McCreary whose nomination they opposed, and whose election they do not favor.

The Work of a Republican.

When the farmers of Kentucky settle with the Sheriff, they will begin to realize what a Republican Administration can do for them when it tries. The raise of $61,000,000 in the assessed value of farm lands was the work of Governor Willson's Board of Equalization, and Judge O'Rear has no word of condemnation for this act of spoliation.

The Right Spirit.

Hon. Wm. Addams, who contested the nomination with Governor McCreary, states in a Courier-Journal interview that the Democratic ticket will be elected by 15,000 majority. Addams took his defeat like the good game loser he is, and is now working valiantly for the success of his party in November. The significant feature of this campaign is the unselfishness of the Democratic leaders. Every man of them is putting aside his personal ambitions in a loyal effort to redeem the state.

Taft Can't Win in 1912.

With President Taft as its nominee, the Republican party cannot carry [the country in 1912, according to a forecast of the electoral vote prepared at the insurgent Republican headquarters in Washington. This is the first time an "insurgent" leader has gone so far as to predict the defeat of President Taft in a public statement. Many of them—La Follette, Cummins, Bristow, Norris, Murdock and the rest—have declared in speeches and interviews that the Republican party should select a stronger man, that is to say, one of their own number, but they have refrained from expressing an opinion that should Taft be nominated a Democrat will surely be elected. The great significance of this fact is that there are few politicians in Washington, even among those who are fighting the President within his own party, who believe he can be defeated for the nomination. The best that most of the insurgents hope for in 1912 is to make themselves "felt" and even up some old scores.

For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dross. Womanly health when lost or impaired may generally be regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This Prescription has, for over 40 years, been curing delicate, weak, pain-wracked women, by the hundreds of thousands and this too in the privacy of their homes without their having to submit to indelicate questionings and offensively repugnant examinations.

Coin Long in Tree.

While cutting up the trunk of an old ash tree Albert Watson, Jr., of Darby, Pa., found imbedded in the heart of the tree a copper penny bearing the date 1817. The coin was found at a point six feet from the base of the trunk, and was not even discolored.

ALL MY PIMPLES GONE

Girl Tells How a Blotchy Skin Was Cleansed By a Simple Wash.

"I was ashamed of my face," writes Miss Minnie Pickard of Altamahaw, N. C. "It was all full of pimples and scars, but after using D. D. D. Prescription I can say that now there is no sign of that Eczema, and that was three years ago."

D. D. D. has become so famous as a cure and instant relief in Eczema and all other serious skin diseases, that its value is sometimes overlooked in clearing up rash, pimples, blackheads, and all other minor forms of skin impurities.

The fact is, that while D. D. D. is so penetrating that it strikes to the very root of Eczema or any other serious trouble, the soothing Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients are so carefully compounded there is no wash for the skin made that can compare with this great household remedy for every kind of skin trouble. D. D. D. is pleasant to use, perfectly harmless to the most delicate skin, and absolutely reliable. A 25-cent bottle will give you positive proof of the wonderful effectiveness of this great remedy.

KIND OF GIRL WE ALL LIKE

Car Passengers Rejoice in Shining Example of Beauty and Devotion to Parents.

Father and mother, both elderly,
and daughter—they were evidently returning from a bit of an outing at Riverside park. The mother was quite feeble and it was well worth seeing the gentleness and care with which the daughter aided her wavering footsteps as she helped the mother on the car.

"Now for you, pop," said the young girl, as she took hold of the father's hand and pulled him on the car, laughing gaily as she did so. The father wore a bronze button at his coat lapel, showing that he was a veteran who had fought for his country. He was somewhat deaf, too, as could be seen, for he put his hand to his right ear as the girl spoke to him.
She seated herself between the two and took off her hat. It must be admitted that, though plain and featherless, it was big enough to be in style, and she took it off that mother and father might sit nearer to her. And she talked and talked, better than a paid entertainer, and the old people looked so proud and so happy.

The daughter's hair, caught by the breeze, curled about her face most charmingly and it was no trouble at all to see, though she was dressed plainly, all in white, that she was a very pretty girl; a slight figure, graceful and tall, bending her well-poised head first to one side then to the other as she spoke to mother or to father. What a clear complexion she had, with just a blush in each cheek.
About her neck was a string of small beads. A small gilt cross hung from the strand and lay on her bosom.

When the car stopped she helped her father and mother to alight, using the same care and gentleness that she had used in helping them to get on,
and walking between them gave an arm to each on their way to the sidewalk.

"Did yez see that girl?" said a workingman on the rear seat. "Did yez see that colleen? That's the kind we have in Ireland, in County Clare."

"I hope," said a quiet man nearby,
"that we may have many more like her in this country."—Indianapolis News.

Love's Supreme Test.

"Nobody will set out a woman's garbage can for her but her servant,
her husband or her lover." This is not the periphrase of a vaudevilleist or the epigram of a philosopher or the mockery of a cynic. It is the grave declaration of a referee in a divorce case where it was proved that the defendant husband had not only carried home groceries for the co-respondent,
but had looked after the garbage pail.

Shakespeare classed the lover along with the poet and the lunatic, because they "are of imagination all compact." The referee in this case classed him with the husband and the servant because of a servitude absolute. The argument of the referee in support of his conclusion was quite simple. "A man's affection for a woman," he said, "is shown by his willingness to take trouble on her behalf, to do little services for her, to do with a willing hand that which a man not in love would deem tiresome, troublesome and disgusting."

Then it is not the champagne dinner nor the lobster supper nor the auto ride nor the diamond ring nor even the sonnet nor the offer of marriage that constitutes the supreme test of love.

Colony Lives as in the Past.

Wrapped in the dark superstition
of the middle ages, a colony of Russian Cossacks still endeavors to hide itself away in Anatolia, Asia Minor, affording a rare field for research for the student of the historical. About 3,000 of the forefathers of these Cossacks left Russia for voluntary exile 250 years ago. Their departure was occasioned by an attempt to enroll their names for census purposes in writing. According to the creed of these peasants, the writing down of their names jeopardizes their chances of salvation, for it involves the curse of Antichrist, enabling him to set his seal upon them. During the whole of this time the Cossacks have kept their identity absolutely intact. They speak a Russian dialect bearing the same relation to the language of the present day as does our modern English to that of Chaucer. They wear the Russian dress of three centuries ago, and even grow herbs, uncultivated elsewhere in Anatolia, to make the dishes that were the food of medieval Russia.

A Tragedy.

All was excitement in the Simperly
household, chortles the Philadelphia Times. Ferdie Finklewix was coming from far-off Samoa to claim pretty Sallie Simperly as his bride.

Carefully, and with the light of undying love in her eyes, Sallie Simperly took Ferdie's seven photographs from the left hand bureau drawer and arranged them on the piano in the parlor. Tanned by the Samoa trade winds, Ferdie strode into the parlor
to take his beloved in his arms.

"And my seven pictures have been ever a source of inspiration to you while you let your fingers stray over the keys in some melody of love!" he cried, as the simpering seven met his gaze.

At that moment little Susie Simperly
entered the room.

"O-o-o!" she exclaimed in her innocent childish way, "I observe seven likenesses on the piano which I cannot recall having hitherto noticed."

"Good night and good-by!" said Fer-die Finklewix.

The Futurity at Lexington.

Kentucky's Great Tots begin at Lexington October 3, and last ten days. In the first day the world's greatest colt stake is raced. Over twenty of the grandest three-year-olds in the country are still eligible, and the field will probably include Miss Stokes 2:08 1-2, the world's champion
yearling; Justice Broce, 2:08 3-4, Mainleaf, 2:09 1-4, winner of the Western Horseman Futurity; Peter
Thompson, 2:09 1-4, Atlantic Express, Margaret Parrish, that beat Sotano to the half in 1:00 1-4; Mamie Gey, Blerne Holt, and several others that have won, or shown better than 2:10
in trials including Zarcine.

On the same day is the famous Tennessee Stake for fast pacers, with Vernon McKinney, 2:02, Sir R, 2:03
1-4, The Limit 2:04 1-4, Hal B, Jr., 2:03 3-4, and four or five others. Best of all, however, will be the appearance of the world's champion trotter, Uhlan, 1:58 1-2, in an attempt to beat his own record, this is the greatest trotter that ever lived. He has shown more speed than a pacer; can trot quarters in 26 seconds, and is the pride of the American turf. Remember this will be the only chance to see him this year, though he will start twice more during the meeting, which begins October 3, and lasts ten days. Take advantage of the half rates on railroads, make up a party and go to Lexington on October 3.

Alleged Polluters Indicted.

That the State Board of Health has determined to clean up the distillers accused of polluting the waters of the creeks and streams in Kentucky and force them to stop the practice is demonstrated by the indictment against the Greentown Distilling Company, of Midway, which was found in the Woodford Circuit Court.

Fast Freight Carriage Success- ful.

A saving to the Government of fully $2,000,000 on the transmission of periodical mail by fast freight was Friday estimated by Postmaster General Hitchcock after a two weeks' trial of this method of shipment. The plan was put in effect September 1 and since that time everything has gone satisfactorily. The Postmaster General says the system was proving highly successful and that the leading magazine publishers were co-operating with his department in a most commendable way for the purpose of making the new plan of shipment successful.

As the country is divided into four sections for the purpose of determining by quadrennial weighings the amount of compensation to which railways are entitled for mail transportation, the plan of shipping by freight will not have its full effect for four years. The weighings of the present season are being made in the third contract section, comprising the states from Ohio to Iowa. It is estimated that savings from this section alone,
which should go in effect next year,
will amount to about $700,000.

Boy's Terrible Deed.

Clas, Shrodes, aged 6, after pouring kerosene over his sister, Mary, aged 3,
set fire to her clothing at Breckley, W.
Va., Friday. Calmly filling a tub with water he watched the flames turn themselves out, then placed the unconscious child in the water and washed her burns, tending the blistered skin from her body and literally skinning her alive.

When the mother returned home an hour later the girl was breathing her last. The boy once set fire to the house. He can give no reason for his act except that he wanted to see the flames.

The Open Air.

Get out of the house whenever you are able, and if you only have a little leisure time to spend out in the open make the surroundings indoors as nearly as possible like the outdoors
by keeping the air fresh and the windows open.

Comparison.

eback from the dining table is much more of an artist than the one who can paint a dreary landscape or decorate a piece of china.—Exchange.

Mean Trick.

dead woke up and admired the flowers his friends had sent him. Some of them probably felt like sending him
the bills.

Farm Statistics for Kentucky.

There is much significance in figures concerning the varied industries of the farm. The census of 1910 has furnished these figures relating to the domestic animals, poultry and bees on farms and ranges in the State of Kentucky.
According to this report the aggregate value of all domestic animals, poultry and bees in 1910 was 117 million in round numbers compared with 73 million ten years before. Here is an increase in the value of 59 per cent.

The greatest part of it was due to domestic animals, but poultry increased from $2,700,000 to $4,462,000. Bees show a decrease. They are now valued at $419,000, against $520,000 ten years ago.

This is to be regretted. It is well to give attention to horses, and colts, mules and mule colts and to dairy cows, but it is also well not to neglect the smaller sources of income from the orchard, from early fruits and vegetables, from the poultry yard and from the bee hives.

Kentucky is still a great state for raising horses. The total value of horses and colts in 1910 was 44 million against 23 million in 1900. Mules and mule colts were valued at 26 million in 1910 against 11 million in 1900.

In 1910 the total value of cattle was 26 million against 25 million ten years before.

There has been an increase in the value of swine. It was $5,176,000 ten years ago, and it is now a little short of 9 million. Sheep and lambs in 1910 were valued at $5,565,000 against $4,191,000 ten years before.

There are in Kentucky nearly one million of cattle—999,553. Nearly one half of these are dairy cows—499,499, valued at $13,712,000. The cows not kept for dairy purposes number 100,971. Dairy cows are valued at $23; other cows at $22 each.

In order to make farming pay the farmer's family must neglect no source of revenue, however small.
This is the day of small things as well as of great things. The small savings and the small earnings make the difference between profit and loss.

CITY WATER SHOULD BE BOILED, SAYS BOARD

Bad Odor Harmless, Water
Free From Impurities
Declares Body

The following article appeared in the Lexington Herald of Friday and practically covers the situation existing in Paris:

"The Board of Health held a meeting last night at the City Hall and discussed the water situation in Lexington. Messrs. John Stoll and E. B. Ellis, representing the Waterworks Company, were also present. As a result of their discussion the board passed a resolution which was made public, in which they advise the people of Lexington to boil all water from any source used for drinking purposes during the hot months.

"They also stated that there is no danger from the odor in the water, which has been complained of by a great many people and that there have been no cases of fever traceable to the water supply of the city. The resolution given out last night follows:

"Numerous inquiries having been made to the Board of Health as to the safety of the reservoir water for drinking purposes. The board has thoroughly investigated this matter.

"First, we wish to state that the odor of the water, which is so often complained of is due to no harmful organism, but to the presence of Algae, which are harmless.

"The prolonged drought of the past summer has caused considerable increase of bacteria in the water, but no infection has been traced to the water.

"The board, however, as a measure of safety recommends that all water be boiled before drinking, until further notice from the board.

Paris Breaks Even With the Colts.

Paris broke even with the Lexington aggregation in the first two games of the post season series which was inaugurated in this city Saturday afternoon. The first game was to have been played here Friday, but a heavy downpour, which came a few minutes before the game was to have been called prevented the opening contest.

Saturday afternoon the locals, with Hauser on the mound and on muddy field succeeded in putting a coat of white wash over the Yancey aggregation, while off of Vallandigham they put over four tallies. Hauser was very effective and held the Colts to three hits.

The game Sunday in Lexington was won by the Colts in an exciting ninth inning finish and by a margin of only one run. The game would have gone into extra rounds had not Scheneberg, who was playing in the outer gardens, dropped a fly which let in the winning run, the score being 2 to 1.

Shears and Robbins opposed each other in the second contest and while both were wild, hits were few, each side securing but five. Robbins was hit harder than the Paris hurler, two of the safeties of the Bourbonites going for extra bases.

For September.

Come in and examine the September bargains we are offering in wall paper—nothing ever seen in Paris like it before. We are ready to put it on the wall at once.

J. T. HINTON.

Columbus Drafts Manager Shelton.

That Mayville will be compelled to look for another man to pilot the Rivermen during the coming season is evidenced by the fact that the Columbus team has drafted Manager (Shelton), who for a part of the present season was at the head of the fast river aggregation. The report of Secretary John Farrell, of the National Association was made public Saturday following the close of the drafting season for Class A clubs, which ended Friday at midnight.

Manager Shelton succeeded Mackey, who started the season at the head of the Maysville club, but after it was too late to put the club in the running for the pennant. However by his clever knowledge of the game he succeeded in pulling the team, that had gone to pieces under careless management, together and in a short time had them playing winning ball, landing the club in third position at the close of the season, and close on the heels of Lexington for second place.

From the first Shelton won his way into the confidence of the Maysville people in his efforts to give them a winning team, and as a result made a large number of friends, while over the circuit he established a reputation of being a clean ball player and a gentleman on the field as well as off. His place on the Maysville club will be hard to fill.

To the Voters of Paris:

We, the undersigned candidates for the Democratic nomination for Councilmen, submit for your consideration the following reasons why you should endorse the policies for which we stand and which have been adopted by the Mayor and a majority of the present Council:

The city has never in its history been in better condition in every way than at present. This administration has built more new streets and reconstructed more old ones and had built where needed more pavements than has ever been done before in the same length of time.

A new rock crusher has been installed at the quarry, a new horse-drawn street sweeper bought, the streets kept well oiled, lights put in new sections of the city, the water mains extended, 1,000 feet of new hose furnished the fire department, the hose wagon and other equipment thoroughly overhauled and put in the very best of condition and new teams provided; the usual interest and $12,000 of the city's bonded debt has been paid when due; $1,500 or more added to the public school fund; a deficit of several thousand dollars that faced this administration at the beginning has been taken up.

All of this has been done with the poll tax taken off and with the property tax reduced 10c, and with not a dollar borrowed in the present year, as has been necessary for a number of years before.

The assessments were made by the Board of Supervisors, whose fairness is unquestionable, and whose endeavor was to put all classes of property on the same basis so that no class should be assessed out of proportion to any other.

An itemized statement was published, showing every dollar expended, and a total of the expenditures of each department of the city government.

The present administration has furnished, and is ready to furnish, every equipment and safeguard necessary for the protection of the life, property and rights of the citizens.

Extra police have been appointed wherever and whenever needed, and it is an undisputed fact that there has never been a time when the city has had less lawlessness or fewer drunken, loiters on the streets, and that the police force has preserved the very best of order under all circumstances.

When the Gas and Electric Light plants were purchased by the same party, which could not have been prevented by any authority, the consolidated concern was required to give its new charter the same rates, rights and privileges that had been given under the separate concerns.

The health officers under this administration have given the most active and careful attention to healthful conditions and there has never been known in the history of the city a period when better health was enjoyed by the entire community. The Mayor and health officers have induced the water company to install a better filtering arrangement and are urging them to add to the height of the stand pipe.

Instead of having crippled the fire department, as has been accused, it has been strengthened by the appointment of sober, careful men and every equipment considered necessary, and the record of fire losses for the past two years has demonstrated that the losses have been reduced to a minimum and has secured to the city the rating of the third class instead of the fourth class, to which Paris belongs.

It is a well known fact that under the high license system adopted by this administration that the liquor laws have been more strictly observed than ever before, and if minors frequent saloons it is because those who seem to have such information have failed to inform the proper city authorities and thus save the necessity of appealing to the grand jury, whose duty it is to enforce the laws in the city of Paris as well as in any other part of the county. It is to be hoped that the grand jury can induce these gentlemen to make known these secrets of the law-breakers which they profess to know and yet so zealously guard. We are pledged to no men for positions, but if elected shall place in office only such men as are worthy and capable of filling their positions with credit and who are followers of those old time Democratic principles which mean a government for the whole people and not for any man or set of men who may seek office for their own honor or profit. We shall favor paying sufficient wages and no more than will secure to the city the best services of competent men.

The mayor has two years yet to serve, and in the light of the above facts, which clearly show that the city government during his administration has been carefully and economically managed, giving to Paris the name of being the liveliest and best improved city of its class in the State, it is to the city's best interest that the council should serve with him a council favorable to the policies that he has adopted with such marked success for the city's good.

If elected, we pledge ourselves to stand by his policies whenever they are shaped by as good judgment as they have been in the past, and even at the risk of being accused of being ruled by one man, we pledge ourselves to accept his leadership in whatever may be for the public welfare.

Asking you to judge us from our past services and our promise to continue to serve as best we can the most good to our city and the whole people, we most respectfully ask your support in our respective wards.

Yesterday was a busy day for Judge E. B. January in Police Court, nine violators being before His Honor for minor infractions of the law, most of the number being up for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. The following cases were disposed of: Geo. Baker, colored, drunk, $7.50; Roy Allen, same; James Neal, white, same; James Beard, colored, same; John English, white, same; George Laws, colored, same; Mary Anne Scruggs, loitering, $7.50; John Allen, colored, disorderly, $7.50; Veach Williams, colored, drunk, $7.50.

Harness Thief Arrested.

Geo Weekley, colored, was arrested yesterday by Patrolman C. B. Thoms on complaint of Dick Ross, who co-opts a stable on High street. Weekley is alleged to have stolen a set of harness from the stable. His trial is set for Thursday morning at ten o'clock.

Johnson's Trial Set.

Walter Johnson, colored, charged with shooting Lafayette Hunt, a groceryman, near this city last Wednesday afternoon, will be arraigned before Judge Dundon Thursday morning at ten o'clock for his examining trial.

Third Game With Colts Today.

The third of the eleven game series will be played at White Park this afternoon between the Colts and Bourbonites. The contest will create quite an interest owing to the standing of the clubs at the present time in this series, each having won one game since the series began last Friday.

Manager McKernan, who has been in Michigan for several days, returned to Paris yesterday morning and will be in the game at his old position at the second station this afternoon. McKernan was accompanied home by John Scott, a member of the Bourbonite aggregation which carried off the pennant honors last year. Scott is fresh from a successful season with the Flint, Mich., team and has been drafted by the St. Louis Nationals. He will be seen in the Paris line-up this afternoon and will play a position in the outfield.

Mayer leaving the club to join the White Sox at Washington, necessitated the calling of another catcher and McKernan has secured Catcher Hennegan, of the Austin, Texas, club, who will wear a Paris uniform until the present series is closed. Scheneberg, who has pitched fourteen games in a row and won as many will probably hurl for the locals this afternoon. The Champs are determined to take the series from the Colts and will put up their best efforts this afternoon. The game will be called at 3:15 o'clock.

Case Continued.

As the result of a difficulty of a division fence separating the property of the principals near North Middletown Tom Johnson of that place is alleged to have drawn a revolver upon O. H. Peters and at the instance of the latter a warrant was issued from the county court and Johnson was arrested charged with assaulting another with a deadly weapon. The case came up for trial in the county court Saturday afternoon resulting in the case being continued until Tuesday September 26.

Attend the Fire Sale now on at BENNIE WEISSBERG'S.

After the morning session adjourned at 12:30 o'clock the thirty-six representatives repaired to Crocodile's cafe, where a sumptuous banquet was served.

Mayer Leaves to Join White Sox

Walter Mayer, the star Bourbonite backstop, left last night for Cincinnati, from which place he will leave for Washington where he will join the White Sox, by which club he was purchased from the Minneapolis club, who acquired the Paris catcher through a deal which was closed at the early part of the season, by which the Millers were to have the pick of the Paris club in consideration of the release of McKelvey and Shears.

Mayer's rise in base ball has been very rapid, as this is the first year he has played professional ball, coming here from Cincinnati after catching for several semi-professional teams around the Queen City. He first attracted attention when the Reds made an offer to take him on their trip South last spring and McKernan being short of a man to take the position of catcher, brought him to Paris.

Mayer was by far the best windup artist in the Blue Grass and Billy Doyle, a scout for the St. Louis American, made an offer of $1,500 for his release but the Paris management could not accept on account of the agreement with Minneapolis. Mayer has had a hard season and it is feared by his friends this will affect his playing when he joins the Sox. However, it is hoped he will be able to stick in the fast company and his career will be watched with a great deal of interest by the local fans.

Christian Church Property Leased.

By the terms of a deal consummated Friday the old Christian church property at the corner of Main and Eighth streets, passes into the hands of the firm of Stuart & O'Brien, the local commission firm, on a lease of two and one half years, and the firm retains an option on the property with the privileges of purchase at the expiration of the lease.

Mr. J. T. Hinton, who owns the property, granted the lease and option in consideration of an annual rental of $750 during the life of the lease and if Stuart & O'Brien desire to purchase the property before the expiration of the option they can do so by the payment of $8,000.

The building will be remodeled, the cupola will be torn down and a brick addition will be erected on the vacant ground in front of the building which will be used as an office. The brick dwelling house in the rear, at the corner of Eighth and High street will be razed and the space in the rear of the old structure will be utilized for yardage.

Work on the improvements will begin immediately and a force of men were at work Saturday removing the trees from the front of the old building to make room for the office building. The improvements will be pushed to completion at the earliest possible date. The warehouse and yard on Third street now occupied by Stuart & O'Brien, were recently sold to the Louisville & Nashville railroad by the Massie estate and as soon as the firm of Stuart & O'Brien can secure possession of their new quarters the building they will vacate will be torn away to make room for the double track of the L. & N.

LAXATIVE SENT FREE TO TRY

It may be taken for granted that there is no family that does not sometime need a laxative. If you don't know of a good laxative, or the laxative you are using is losing its effect, we want to call your attention to Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which thousands of families are using successfully.

We have scores of letters from mothers, and scores from prominent men saying they are using it personally and giving it to their families. Men like Mr. C. K. Smith of the Traffic Clearing House, Pine Bluff, Ark., and Mr. George B. Turner, a lawyer of Harlan, Ky. The thousands of mothers who use it themselves and give it to their children would take too much space to mention.

The reason they prefer Syrup Pepsin is that it is a mild, gentle laxative.

tive- tonic that does not gripe—effective and yet so mild that babies can take it. Its tonic ingredients invigorate the body and strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles so that they again do their work naturally. If you have been a victim of salts, pills and strong cathartics you will discard them when you once use Syrup Pepsin.

You can buy a fifty cent or one dollar bottle of any druggist, but before doing so you may want to try it free. If so, send your address to Dr. Caldwell and he will promptly forward a free sample bottle. Then, being convinced, do as others are doing and buy it in the regular way of your favorite druggist.

For the free sample address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 402 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

A Premeditated Act

Some new tenants occupied the flat below the Kings. The occupants of the Le Rex apartments were noted for their sociability. But to all events and purposes the Swifts were exclusive and did not seek other company than their own.

"I don't understand it at all," confided Mrs. Jennings as she seated herself on Mrs. King's back porch. "The poor thing is so abused. How her husband talks to her. He doesn't talk, he yells, shouts, screams and shrieks at her."

"Don't she answer him?" questioned sympathetic Mrs. King.

"The angrier he gets, the more she laughs and even when I've seen her go out he continues to scold and gibber jabber to himself. Once I heard that man fairly exult because she was suffering with a sore throat."

"Probably for the first time in the twenty years of your existence you'll know enough to keep quiet," he said.

"Something mysterious about them. Never a soul calls on them."

"Oh the butcher's boy informed me they just moved from another town. I called there one afternoon and though no one answered the door bell I could distinctly hear peals of laughter. Listen to that now."

"Can't you ever stop, you mummy skull," came the words from a distance in an exasperated tone. "I'll throw something at you if you utter another syllable."

"Heavens, if worst comes to worst and any attempt is made to harm that exquisite child-like wife, I'll hasten to her rescue."

Things seemed to go from bad to worse in apartment No. 2. Strange, however, when the young couple left the flat together, they could easily have been mistaken for a congenial, happy, care free pair.

The neighbors felt diffident about calling on Mrs. Swift until Mrs. Jennings appointed herself as committee of one to make a formal visit. As she approached the door a masculine voice could be heard saying:

"I'll not put up with this any longer. You think that you can swear at me until eternity, but you're mistaken. Some day I'll wring your neck."

Mrs. Jennings flew back to her flat and telephoned the police that a man was threatening his wife and her life was endangered, then waited in breathless horror.

Mr. Swift was amazed to see a big burly policeman when he opened the door, razor in hand.

"No, we don't keep a dog," he said impatiently.

"But you keep a wife, where is she?" said the policeman, looking at the razor meaningly.

"My wife is downtown shopping."

"A likely story. Didn't you threaten to wring her neck a few moments ago?" "Maybe you found cutting it easier."

"To wring my wife's neck?" repeated Mr. Swift in astonishment.

Just then a voice came from the dining room saying: "Go to—h—Go to—h—"

"Come with me and I'll introduce you to the party whose neck I'll wring the first opportunity, regardless of all the gossiping neighbors and policeman in the world," said Mr. Swift.

When the policeman saw an ugly green parrot winking at him he uttered a few choice oaths apologized for his intrusion.

The neighbors must have been informed who the anticipated victim was, as the next day Mrs. Swift was surprised at her sudden popularity and of all the articles most admired in her home the parrot was most admired.

"Losing the Drop."

"When a man whips out a gun and gets 'the drop' on you, there's nothing else to do but throw up your hands and let him have whatever he wants."

"That's where you fool yourself," said the man from the southwest. "If a man has the nerve he can face a gun and get away with it—sometimes. I remember seeing in a border saloon an Englishman pull a gun on a Mexican whom he had caught cheating in a game of cards."

"You give me back the money you've won from me or I'll blow your head off!"

"You will?" said the Mexican, looking calmly into the muzzle of the Englishman's revolver. "Well, you won't do it just now; that gun's not loaded."

"What's that?" exclaimed the Englishman, turning the revolver toward himself to look into the chambers. And on the instant the Mexican drew a knife and planted it to the hilt in the Englishman's stomach."

Qualified for Free Trip.

"I want a pass," said a forlorn-looking individual as he entered the office of J. J. Geary, general passenger agent of the Northwestern Pacific.

"Pass?" queried Geary. "You're not entitled to a pass. You are not an employee. Sorry."

"No," answered the individual, "but here the anti-pass law says free transportation can be granted to necessary caretakers of live stock, poultry and fruit." Well, I'm going on this trip with an aunt that's a hen, there's your poultry; a girl that's a peach, there's your fruit, and a nephew that's a mule, there's your live stock. I think I am entitled to a pass."—San Francisco Call.

ONLY WOMAN JAILER

Veritable Amazon Has Unique Position in Rhone Valley.

Record of Madame Jenny Porchet During Husband's Illness for Three Years, Makes Her Choice for Place.

Berlin.—Woman's rights, indeed! What more could the most ardent suffragette desire than to control the liberties of scores of more men. That is the privilege of Mme. Jenny Porchet, aged 51—the only official woman jailer in the world.

Her prison lies in the pretty town of Aigle, with a population of 4,000, in the valley of Rhone. It forms part of an imposing range of castellated buildings, the most conspicuous in that region.

Thirty years ago Mme. Porchet married the chief warder of the Aigle prison. When her husband became seriously ill she acted in his place without the local authorities being aware of the fact. Then after three years' illness, Porchet died and the place of chief warder becoming vacant applications were filed. Several men applied for the post, which is fairly well paid and many of them had excellent credentials. Mme. Porchet, however, presented herself before the local commission, explained that during the three years' illness of her husband she had carried on his duties so as not to lose the place, had introduced several minor reforms which had strengthened discipline, and at the same time made the prisoners more contented. She concluded that she could carry on the same work without fear or favor if the commission would support her.

"I know it is an unusual request to make, for a woman to rule male prisoners and keep them in order, but I am not frightened of a man or half a dozen of them."

This statement brought smiles and nods of approval from the members of the commission, for Mme. Porchet is a veritable Amazon nearly six feet in height, powerfully built, and in the prime of health. Her face shows a character as strong as her frame, with powerful square jaws, a large mouth and piercing but kindly eyes.

"Gentlemen," she continued, "you may still think that if I were attacked by a prisoner I would be helpless. Will you kindly ask the heaviest gendarme on the premises to step here so that I can demonstrate to you what I could and would do with a man who dared to attack me."

The president asked Mme. Porchet to retire and after the commission had considered the matter for a quarter of an hour she was informed that it was unanimously agreed to give her a year's trial and if she gave satisfaction the post would be a permanent one.

There was a touch of the feminine in the result, for this strong woman had tears in her eyes when she heard the verdict.

"Gentlemen, I thank you," she said, "and I am sure that I will give you every satisfaction. I did not want to appeal to your sympathies as I have seven children to bring up and the loss of the position would have meant much to them and me."

Stubborn Case

"I was under the treatment of two doctors," writes Mrs. R. L. Phillips, of Indian Valley, Va., "and they pronounced my case a very stubborn one, of womanly weakness. I was not able to sit up, when I commenced to take Cardui.

I used it about one week, before I saw much change. Now, the severe pain, that had been in my side for years, has gone, and I don't suffer at all. I am feeling better than in a long time, and cannot speak too highly of Cardui."

Marvelous Mechanical Work.

A Berlin inventor has succeeded, after years of toil, in making an artificial man who can walk, make all movements, speak, sing, laugh and whistle. It is a life-size figure and so natural an imitation as to be completely deceptive a yard away. "Occultus," as the figure is named, obeys words of command such as "march" and "halt," and he answers any question put to him. It is not an illusion or a trick, it is a piece of pure mechanical work.

Pennsylvania Judge, Finally Decides That Goose Must Be Cooked and Divided Between Two Women.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa.—A dispute over the ownership of a goose was settled the other day by Ald. John F. Donohue, who is famous locally for his common sense adjustments of lawsuits.

Mrs. Alice Kreiger of Shickshinny charged Mrs. Louis Pellius with the theft of a goose. Each woman claimed the goose had belonged to her ever since it was hatched, and the evidence on both sides was of equal weight.

"Well," said the alderman, after puzzling over the case, "there is but one way to settle it. Each of you women will go home, will get your flock and each bring one here. Then you will place the geese on opposite sides of the courtroom and the goose in the middle and let her choose to which flock she belongs.

"Of course," he added, "there is the danger of her being a flirt."

The women objected to this plan because it involved an outlay in railroad fare of more than the value of the goose.

"Then," declared the alderman, "the defendant is sentenced to take the goose home, kill it, divide it exactly in half, and give one half to the prosecutrix."

Caviar Is Antidote.

St. Petersburg.—The Ottoman Bacteriological Institute has found that caviar is an antidote for cholera. The discovery is the result of a protest against the Turkish government's exclusion of Russian caviar from Turkish territory for fear of cholera infection. The institute after Turkey's ban experimented with a pot of caviar which had been infected with cholera bacilli. In four days' time it was found that all the cholera germs in the caviar had been destroyed.

Getting Acquainted

When Henderson stepped into the big dining room of the golf club, which had been converted into a dancing hall for the occasion, and saw Florence Tracy standing opposite the door he made up his mind that he wanted to know her. He put forth a big muscular hand and plucked by the sleeve the first man that passed him.

"Introduce me to the girl over there talking to Matthews," he commanded.

"Don't know her," responded the other man. He turned and stared at the girl for a moment. "A good deal of a peach," he commented, "but I never saw her before. Sorry I can't oblige you." And he dashed off in pursuit of his own partner.

The next half hour Henderson passed looking for some one who would present him to the girl, but none of his acquaintances seemed to know her. Finally, however, he came upon Filkins, who was popularly supposed to know everybody in the world.

"Say, Filkins," he said, "if you don't know the girl in white who has just been dancing with Trenton I want you to make it your business to get to know her so that you can introduce me."

Henderson eagerly followed in Filkins' wake, with his eyes fixed on the willowy creature who was the object of his admiration. Thus he just escaped climbing up Filkins' broad back when that unreliable person stopped in front of a pudgy blond creature and with a beaming smile introduced Henderson.

"That wasn't the girl I wanted to meet!" he exploded to Filkins a few minutes later. "Nice enough girl, I don't doubt, but not the one. The girl I want to know is the tall girl who stepped out on to the veranda just as you turned around then. Now, do you know her?"

Filkins shook his head. "No, I don't," he admitted. "But I think she's Mrs. Peterson's sister and is visiting her. I'll try to find out for you."

"No, I'll do my own pioneering, thanks," said Henderson.

Three times during the course of the evening he discovered men who knew the young woman in question, and three times did he and the mutual acquaintance wander about vainly in search of her. As the dancers were beginning to leave Filkins rushed up to Henderson.

"I've met her and danced with her, and she is a peach," he announced. "You just wait here half a second and I'll cut her out of the bunch as she comes down and introduce you."

Once more Henderson waited patiently but vainly. When all the guests had departed Filkins gave a sigh of mingled weariness and disappointment. "Honest, old man," he said, "I didn't mean to give you the wrong steer, but she must have gone out the other way."

Henderson from that moment set his teeth and made up his mind that he would achieve Florence Tracy's acquaintance even though the heavens fell. With this purpose in view he attended three lawn parties—festivities which he loathed—and a church bazaar. In vain.

One evening on his way home he saw her sitting in the front of the car with a girl whom he had once known, but never liked, and had consistently avoided for years. Wandering past them with a bland, slightly embarrassed but wholly humble and propitiatory smile upon his face, he was met with such an icy stare from the girl he had once known that he hastily bolted into the forward car without attempting to renew the acquaintance.

However, several days later, when he had almost given up hope of accomplishing his object, he woke from a surreptitious nap on the evening train just as it was pulling into the station. In spite of the fact that his vision was somewhat blurred with sleep he suddenly became aware that Miss Tracy had just stepped into the aisle from a seat about half-way down the car.

Trying to look as much as possible like a man who has just been sitting with his eyes closed to rest them, he stumbled into the aisle. Then he glanced back as he did so, actuated by the suburbanite's instinct for gathering up stray packages. In the rack just above the seat which Miss Tracy had been occupying his eyes fell upon a small, dainty parcel. Instantly he was wide awake.

He dashed back to the seat, secured the parcel and then dropped off the platform of the car just as the train was pulling out of the station. Determined to see the thing through, he hailed the village taxicab and ordered the driver to follow the automobile which was carrying Miss Tracy swiftly out of sight.

As Miss Tracy stepped out of the car in front of her sister's house Henderson, hat in one hand and parcel in the other, stepped out of the taxicab. Somewhat heated but perfectly game, he advanced toward her and held out his bedraggled offering.

"If I am not mistaken," he said suavely, "you left this in the train."

Miss Tracy looked at him in surprise. Then her eyes fell to the parcel. She half advanced her hand as if to take it, but withdrew it again.

"It was good of you to bring it," she said hesitatingly, "but you are mistaken. It isn't mine. Why did you think it was?"

Henderson laughed shamefacedly. "I must have wanted it to be yours," then the whole story of his efforts to get acquainted with her came out.

Exhibitions of Shooting Today.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Topperwein, the celebrated marksmen, will give an exhibition of expert and fancy shooting here today at the base ball park at 2 o'clock which everybody ought to see, as no such marvelous shooting has ever been done in this section. It will be a revelation to all of the wonderful possibilities of modern arms and ammunition in the hands of the greatest experts. Mr. Topperwein is the acknowledged dean of fancy and trick shots, and his many feats are of a highly sensational character. Mrs. Topperwein has no equal among women for adeptness in shooting. Ladies are especially urged to attend and witness her astonishing skill with shotgun, rifle and pistol. Admissions will be free to all.

Some idea of the unusual character of the exhibition given by the Topperweins will be gained from the following remarks: Adolph Topperwein the greatest living fancy and flying target shot with a rifle, lives in San Antonio, Texas. His native state has long been noted for its expert shooters and this penchant for shooting among Texans, added to his natural ability, undoubtedly accounts for the wonderful skill he displays. He uses no special equipment, but ordinary Winchester rifles, shooting regular cartridges with solid

Former Parisian Burned to Death.

John W. Childers, a former resident of Paris, was burned to death in a fire which destroyed his grocery on Deweese street in Lexington at an early hour Monday morning. His body was burned almost to a crisp and was not found until after the conflagration had been extinguished.

The fire which destroyed the grocery and incinerated its proprietor was the result of an explosion of escaping gas. It is supposed the explosion was caused by a lighted match in the hands of Mr. Childers, who was walking about the premises.

His charred remains were found on the floor near a doorway leading from a small bedroom, which he frequently occupied, to the rear of the grocery store, and in his hand was a key. Fragments of clothing were clinging to the charred flesh which indicates he was dressed and in the act of going out of the house.

For a number of years Mr. Childers conducted a grocery store in this city his place of business being located on Eighth street near Henderson. He moved to Lexington in 1907 after conducting his business here for nearly twenty years. For two years following his removal from this city he was a member of the Lexington Fire Company.

He was aged about 52 years and is survived by his wife, who was in Richmond at the time of his death, and three daughters, Misses Willie, Jessie and Grace Childers, the former being employed as stenographer at the office of the Continental Fire Insurance Co. in that city. The Childers family resided on Barr street.

The funeral arrangements have not been made out it was stated yesterday by members of the family the remains would be brought to Paris where they will be interred in the Paris cemetery.

Average Value of Land is $14.50 an Acre.

Lands per acre are valued in Kentucky from $3.31 to $80.07. The poorest land, according to its value in Kentucky, is in Rowan county, and the highest priced is in Fayette county. The values range according to the location, the poorest being in the eastern part of the state and the richest land being in the central and western part of the state.

The total value of all land in Kentucky for taxation is $351,555,618, and the total number of acres 24,223,685, making an average value of land per acre $14.50.

The laws governing assessments in this state are so defective that when a raise is made on the county it must be on the county as a whole, and in a very few instances these increases in the lands result in hardships, but such is never the case with the good lands.

The average valuation of Fayette land is $30.07 per acre, which is the highest while Bourbon's valuation, which ranks third, is $61.86.

Winners at State Fair.

Bourbon county horses were much in evidence at the State Fair Tuesday night. Beauty Spect, owned by S. C. For brood mares in service Mr. Carpenter took first premium with Forest Maiden. McCray Bros., of North Middletown, were second with Marveline in the event for roadsters. Marvel King, the property of Jones Bros., of North Middletown, captured the first premium in the five gaited saddle event for stallions four years old and over against seven entries.
